

REGISTER OF SOLAR WATER HEATERS – POSTCODE ZONES

Version 2, applicable from 1 November 2012*

The Register of solar water heaters contains details about each solar water heater or air source heat pump model for which STCs may be created under the Act. The number of STCs a particular solar water heater model is entitled to create will depend on its installation date and geographic location.

There are two tables in this document, the postcode zones for solar water heater and the postcode zones for air source heat pumps. The Regulator has determined four zones for solar water heaters and five zones for air source heat pumps. These zones based on climate and solar radiation levels and the Regulator has defined each zone by reference to the postcodes contained within it – the ranges of postcodes and their corresponding zones are listed in the table below.

Postcode zones for air source heat pumps

Air source heat pump water heaters are water heaters which use compressors to collect latent heat from the air; they do not have panels on the roof.
